Teach Like a CHAMPION®

Newsletter Number 1

Welcome to the first PWRD Leadership Newsletter. We will be sending 2 newsletters out each term which will be filled with resources, evidence, and information on our upcoming workshops (below).

I hope you have had a great start to the Term if your school year has begun. Last week we had an amazing week presenting the Teach Like a Champion (TLAC) program to over 300 educators, 12 schools and received an average evaluation score of 4.91/5. We are very proud of the wonderful evaluation scores and beautiful comments. Looking forward to supporting these schools in implementing TLAC.

Quote of the Month

Participant at the recent Teach Like a Champion workshop wrote this comment which made my day!!!!

"Amazing - I feel excited to bring my classroom to life with these strategies! Thank you for reminding me that I love Teaching!"

What's New – Check for Understanding / Working Memory

Doug Lemov wrote, “yesterday I wrote about the challenges of managing limits on Working Memory for teachers. We know we’ve got to design our teaching to respond to the challenges the classroom presents for student’s Working Memory, but we’ve also got to be thinking about the under-acknowledge issue of our own working memory overloads.” – Doug Lemov (Field Notes) – Please click on the link below to read the full article and watch this technique in action, while also hearing from the teacher.
